Hi, my name is Aaliyah Rashid. I graduated last week from Abu Dhabi University. I am interested in looking for work experience. I have an interest in maths, and I am very good at analysing data.

At university, I did a research project that looked at how often students exercise each week. I was excited to present my information in a diagram. My teacher was amazed by my work and wanted me to show my findings to the whole class, but I was nervous about standing in front of a big audience.
