READING PART.

Read the story. Choose the correct answer.

My best friend, Mark, is a great guy, but he's always embarrassing himself. Yesterday, Mark and I were studying with a friend in the library when we saw a girl sitting at a desk near us. We could only see her from the back, but Mark thought she looked just like his friend Sarah. He walked over to her and touched her on the shoulder. Well, she turned around and . . . it wasn't Sarah. He said he was sorry, and she was really nice, but he was very embarrassed. When he was talking to her, his face was very red! We laughed about it later.

After we fished studying at the library, we went to the grocery store. We were shopping when we heard a girl near Mark say, "Do you want to go to a party tonight?" Mark looked at her and said, "OK!" Well, she looked at him, and she didn't look happy. Then we understood. She was talking to her friend on her "no hands" cell phone. She wasn't talking to Mark at all! Mark wanted to leave the store right away. We went out the door, and we looked at each other. We started to laugh, and we couldn't stop laughing for about five minutes! Poor Mark!
