USE OF ENGLISH

2 Complete with ONE word only.

This is the letter that Pamela wrote to her parents after she met Neil Clayton:

Dear Mum and Dad,

How are you? Are you having a good time in Italy? This has been one of the _____ days in my life! I have something really incredible to tell you. I have met _____ most interesting, intelligent and appealing teacher in the world! His name is Neil Clayton, my new English teacher; he _____ just started at school.

His first class was really amusing. He is like an actor _____ is trying to do everything he can to attract our attention and make us like what we are reading. He has the ability to make Literature so interesting that you can't stop reading. You know, at first I thought he was going to be a boring teacher. _____ , he is the exact opposite. _____ all teachers were like him, we would study so much more! I have decided I want to become a writer in the future. I've written my first short story. _____ it still needs editing, it's good. Mr. Clayton read it; he told me he really _____ what I had written, and he told me _____ carry on writing because I am talented!

Well, that's all for the time being. Now I'm _____ to go and read Songs of Innocence, by William Blake, as we will be discussing some poems tomorrow in class.

Love,

Pamela
