Girl: Mum. Can my friend Daisy come here after school on Monday?

Woman: Not on Monday, Jane. You're going to Vicky's house, remember?

Girl: Oh, yes, of course. I forgot. I'm going to look after her baby.

Woman: Look, I'm writing it in the family diary, so you won't forget.

Girl: Oh, can you write something for me, under Tuesday?

Woman: Yes. What shall I write?

Girl: 'Jane's History Exam.'

Woman: Ooh, yes. That's important.

Girl: And something eke. Jack has to go to the doctor's on Wednesday morning. He told me.

Woman: Your brother Jack gets everything wrong! He has to go to the dentist then. I've told him three times.

Girl: When is Dad going to go to London?

Woman: On Thursday morning, very early, He's going to fly this time.

Girl: Really? What's he going to do them?

Woman: He has an important meeting at South Television.

Girl: Oh, right. Mum, could we go to the cinema on Friday evening?

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Woman: Urn, yes, all right. There's a new film with Sally Gold - what's it called - 'Find Thad Star'?

Girl: No, Mum, it's 'Follow That Star'.

Woman: Well, let's go and see that.

Girl: Could we go to a restaurant before the film starts?

Woman: No, Jane. We're going out for dinner on Saturday, remember? For your father's birthday.

Girl: Oh, yes. Sow. Where am we going to go7

Woman: To the Saffron Restaurant, Ooh, how do you spell that?

Girl: Oh, Mum - it's S-A-double F-FI-0-N. And they have really good mango ice cream there.

Woman: I know. It's your father's favorite, too!
