Read this text about Arteixo and answer True or False

❖ Arteixo is a municipality in the province of A Coruña, part of the autonomous community of Galicia in northwestern Spain. Its population is 31,005 (in 2013).

It is a beautiful combination of sea and mountain, an ideal holiday place which offers its visitors a mild climate, rich flora and fauna, wide and beautiful beaches, a lot of Celtic settlements, Romanic churches, leisure time activities and other charming locations.

Churches are the most outstanding representations from the Roman period, together with the Brozos bridge over the Bolaños river.

The most remarkable touristic aspect is its beaches, very touristy in the summer months: small sandy ones like Valcovo and Ucha, or wide, open beaches like Barrañán, surrounded by dunes. All of them possess good touristic services such as parkings, showers, paths and access ramps, first aid and restaurants.

The Arteixo Spa Resort, with thermal water springs, is one of the few existing spas in A Coruña. It is located in the town centre. The health benefits of its salt have been recognized since 1760.

All throughout the year Arteixo enjoys festivities which fill the streets and local squares with traditional costumes; going from "The Historical Arteixo 1900 Fair" to the meetings with local, regional or national artists.
