Isabel	I always feel my birthday is a special day in the year, because my parents do their best to make it wonderful. But this year it was absolutely fantastic! They took me to the new water park in the city. It was huge! We invited my friends and spent the whole day there. I was so tired at the end that I slept all the way home in the car!
Richard	Lots of good things have happened this year but the best day was the day I passed my driving test. I had lots of lessons with Dad and then a few with a professional driving instructor. So I was feeling quite confident but when it came to the actual test, I was so nervous. I started to feel quite sick but luckily I calmed down when I got started. I'm saving up now to get my first car. I hope it won't take me long!
Alice	My sister got married in March. She didn't want a big wedding so it was just family and a few friends. Her husband only has a small family so most of the people there were our relatives. It was a really special day. The weather was fantastic, the reception was great and everyone was dancing and having a really good time. I even got up and danced, too, which is really unusual!
Luke	Stepping off the plane at Sydney Airport and knowing that a great adventure was about to begin … that was the best bit of my year and the start of my travels. I know everyone wants to go to Australia during their year out but I've got family there so it made sense to go there first and then decide what to do. I ended up staying there for most of the year because I got a job on a farm.
Grace	I've always written, ever since I can remember … poems and short stories, and Mum has always encouraged me to enter competitions. It's good practice, and teaches you how to keep going even when you're not always successful. So, imagine how great I felt when I heard that I'd won a national writing competition. The prize was a tablet so I take that everywhere with me now instead of my old notebooks.
Paul	I'm a tennis fan so the greatest day of my year was the day I met Rafael Nadal. We got tickets for a tennis tournament and we actually watched him play. I was waiting around afterwards, taking a few photos, and saw him as he came off the tennis court. He was really friendly and signed my tennis magazine. To me, he's the greatest player in the world!
