1) For these questions, choose the correct answer:

Emma: Hi, Chloe. Do many children use technology in the UK?

Chloe: Yes, I think we do. My friends and I use our mobile phones for about six hours a day. I think we spend too much time on them! We use our mobile phones for chatting to friends on social media and sending text messages. Some children send more than 3,000 texts a day! At my school, if you're in a lesson, you're not allowed to use your mobile phone. If you're in the school playground, you can use your mobile phone though.

Emma: Hello, Felix. Do children in Brazil love technology?

Felix: Yes, we do! I spend about four hours a day looking at screens. Did you know the fastest texter in the world is from Brazil? His name is Marcel Fernandes Filho. He's in the Guinness World Records! A lot of children also use phone apps for learning English in Brazil. This is very helpful for us.

Emma: Hello, Zu. Tell me about technology in China.

Zu: Technology is very important for learning in China. We spend most of our time studying on our phones and laptops. My friends and I spend about eight hours a day using technology. We use our phones for chatting to friends, listening to music and downloading films.
