F: Hi! I'm Agnes Lukins, and I'm a ……. person.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

M: A people person. Could you please explain what you mean, Ms. Lukins?

F: I just love working with people. And, actually, people like working with me... and for me. They say I'm a good ……..

M: So would you say you have strong …….…….. qualities?

F: I guess so. I manage people well and my last two jobs have been in management. I'd like to know if there's anything available …….…… maybe in Mexico? I can speak Spanish.

M: Let's have a look at the possibilities there.

Conversation 5

M: Come in. You're Elena Burgess, aren't you?

F: Yes, that's right. I see you have two jobs available for psychologists. I just finished my studies, and I'm not sure which job to …….…….…. for. This would be my first job.

M: Well, please tell me about yourself. What do you see as your strengths?

F: Strengths? Hmm... Well, people say I have a lot of …….……...

M: You're compassionate? In what way?

F: I'm able to understand other people's feelings—to put myself in their shoes. I think I must have gotten that from my parents. Both my parents are psychologists, too.

Conversation 6

M: Good afternoon. You must be Karen Trent.

F: Yes.... I'm looking for a job.

M: Certainly, Ms. Trent. What kind of experience do you have?

F: Well, I'm a painter. I painted the murals at the new Design Center reception area.

M: Really? Those are beautiful! I understand they won a …….……... You do have a lot of talent.

F: Thanks! I actually have a …….……. certificate in art, and I'd love to work with children. Is there anything available in Europe? I speak French and German as well as English, and I'd love a chance to …….!
