- 3 Slava speaks about his favourite Belarusian film. Ask questions so that the words in bold are the answers.

In fact, I prefer playing computer games to watching films. But a few days ago my class went to the cinema and we saw a cool adventure film — The Gamer's Rules. The main characters are a team of gamers who play a computer game and find a message of Radziwill about a hidden treasure. And their adventures begin. At first, they think only about the money but finally they realise that the most important thing is their friendship. The gamers' roles were played by Belarusian teenagers. I know they performed all the hard stunts themselves: rode motorbikes, got into the church dungeons and took part in the underwater scenes. The shooting took place in Minsk, Bobruysk and Nesvizh Castle. It's such an amazing film that I'm going to watch it again with my brother. I recommend it to adventure lovers who are interested in Belarusian culture and history.
