Galang : What are you having, Monita?
Monita : I'm having banana fritters. Would you like to have some?
Galang : Sure. Yum ... yum ... It's tasty!
Monita : It's my favorite food for a snack. My mom made it for me. What are you having?
Galang : It's fried rice for my breakfast.
Monita : I woke up late. I hurried to school so that I didn't have time for having breakfast at home.
Galang : Chew your food slowly. Do you have anything to drink?
Monita : Oh, sure. I have a bottle of sweet tea.

Klepon

Klepon is a traditional Indonesian dessert that I absolutely adore. It's a small ball of glutinous rice flour filled with melted palm sugar. Once boiled, the klepon is coated in grated coconut. The contrast between the soft, chewy rice flour and the sweet, gooey palm sugar is simply divine. The addition of the grated coconut adds a delightful texture and aroma.
Each bite of klepon is a burst of sweet and savory flavors. It's the perfect dessert to satisfy your sweet tooth. Whether enjoyed as a snack or a dessert, klepon is always a crowd-pleaser.
