Race across London

Which is faster – public transport, cycling or driving? In this week's Travel Challenge three reporters travel across London in a race to be the first person to the London Barrier. But whose form of transport is ¹ _____ (good)?

Alfie: I'm completing the challenge in my car. It's quicker, ² _____ (comfortable) and a lot cheaper than public transport. And who says it's ³ _____ (dirty) than public transport? Look at the pollution from buses!

Tessa: I know cycling is ⁴ _____ (slow) than the other two on a clear road but London has a lot of traffic and it's ⁵ _____ (busy) in the rush hour when we're racing. The quickest form of transport isn't important in these conditions – it's the smartest way to travel. Unfortunately, it's also ⁶ _____ (dangerous) than the others.

Troy: I need to think quicker than the others and get my times right. I'm using public transport so missing a bus or tube is a ⁷ _____ (big) problem than the traffic for me.
