2026 FIFA WORLD CUP

FRIENDS TALKING ABOUT FOOTBALL

Emma, Lucas, Sofia and Daniel

Emma: Have you been following the news about the 2026 FIFA World Cup?

Lucas: Absolutely! I'm really excited about it. It's going to be the biggest World Cup ever.

Sofia: That's right. For the first time, 48 teams will participate instead of 32.

Daniel: And it's being hosted by three countries: Canada, Mexico, and United States. I think that's amazing.

Emma: It will definitely make the tournament unique. There will be matches in many different cities across North America.

Lucas: I wonder which teams will surprise everyone this time. Every World Cup has at least one unexpected success story.

Sofia: True. I also think the larger number of teams will give more countries a chance to compete on the world stage.

Daniel: That's one of the things I like most about the new format. Smaller football nations will have the opportunity to gain valuable experience.

Emma: Do you think a traditional powerhouse like Brazil, Argentina, or Germany will win again?

Lucas: It's possible, but football is becoming more competitive every year. Teams that were considered outsiders in the past are now much stronger.

Sofia: I agree. Look at recent tournaments. Several underdog teams reached the later stages and challenged the favourites.

Daniel: Personally, I'm looking forward to watching young players. Every World Cup introduces new stars to the world.

Emma: That's one of the best parts! Fans get to discover talented players they didn't know before.

Lucas: And do not forget the atmosphere. The fans, the celebrations, and the international spirit make the World Cup special.

Sofia: Exactly. It's not only about football; it's also about culture, friendship, and bringing people together.

Daniel: June can't come soon enough! I can't wait for the opening match.

Emma: Same here. It's going to be an unforgettable tournament.
