1- Reading Comprehension

Carefully read the text and answer TRUE or FALSE

A Short History of Videogames

Fifty years ago, the first videogames were created, and they were very simple. In the 1970s, people played Pong, which was a game with a small ball on the screen. Later, arcade machines became popular, and children loved playing them after school. In the 1990s, many families had computers, and they started to play new games at home. Today, videogames are very advanced, and millions of people play online together. Right now, many teenagers are playing games on their phones, which are small but powerful. Tomorrow, new games will be released, and players will be very excited. Besides, companies are going to use better graphics every year. Therefore, videogames will continue to be a very important part of our free time.
