Do you ever look outside your window in the morning, see that the weather's bad and decide to just stay in? There's a town called Whittier in Alaska, in the US, where people do exactly that every winter.

Whittier is a very small town with only around 200 residents. In the summer, there are a lot of tourists – around 700,000. During the summer, it is a busy tourist town: cruise ships stop there, people visit the countryside and it's all quite beautiful.

However, in the winter, it gets very cold and dark, so nearly all the residents live together in the same building. Because it's just one building, the heating is cheap. It's very big and there are lots of floors and apartments for people to stay warm in. But they don't just sleep there. There's also a post office, a doctor's, a police station, and even an inside park for children to play in. There isn't a school inside the building though. But there is an underground tunnel that connects the building to the school, so children don't need to go outside when the weather is bad.

The main way to get to the town is through another tunnel which goes through a mountain. It's quite small and cars can only go one way. The direction changes every 30 minutes.

There's something nice about living close to so many people. But it's important to have good neighbours!

1 Whittier is in Canada. ___
2 Around 200 people visit the town in the summer. ___
3 The weather is bad in the winter. ___
4 Almost everyone in the town lives together. ___
5 There's a school in the building. ___
6 You can drive to the town. ___
