Instructions: Listen to the recording on security systems and read along with the conversation, fill in the blanks with the information provided in the box.

Bank Teller: Hi. How can I help you?

Robber: Uh, this is a _____. Put all the money in this bag . . . now.

Bank Teller: What? What are you talking about? I'm going to get the _____.

Robber: Wait! I have a gun.

Bank Teller: Where?

Robber: In . . . in my _____ .... see?

Bank Teller: What? Ah, that's not a gun. That's your hand made to look like a gun.

Robber: That's what you think, so don't do anything funny . . . and don't press any _____. Nothing. Just put the money in the bag.

Bank Teller: Okay, but I only have a few dollars and some loose change in my register.

Robber: I don't care. Just stuff it in this bag.

Bank Teller: I mean, you could make more _____ setting up a lemonade stand outside the bank and selling each cup for twenty-five cents.

Robber: I don't care! Give me the money NOW. Good grief!

Bank Teller: Okay, okay. You don't have to get all worked up about it. Let's see. [Come on!] Let's see . . . Here are a few ones [Come on . . . hurry up!!], a couple of tens. . . . some _____. [Come on!] Oh, look! Here's an old 1935 _____. I haven't seen one of those in a while.

Robber: Come on! Stop the _____ and fill the bag.

Bank Teller: Okay, okay. _____, aren't we? Oh, your bag has a small hole in it. Let me get you a new one.

Robber: Small hole . . . big hole. I don't care. Put the money in your sock if you have to.

Bank Teller: Well, you see, I'm still in training as a new _____, and my boss is evaluating me today, so I have to do things just right, or the bank won't keep me on.

Robber: Ah, come on!

Bank Teller: Well, I'll be. It looks like someone's car is being towed out front. [Uh, what?] Poor devil. [Oh, ahhh!] Boy, that's sure going to ruin someone's day. [Oh, man!] So, where were we? Okay, before I give you the _____ of money, could you fill out this satisfaction survey rating your service today?

Robber: Augh! Does it look like I have any time for that?

Bank Teller: Ah, do me a favor! I'll even throw in an extra lollipop.

Robber: Ah, tell me this isn't happening to me! Look, this is supposed to be a _____, and not an afternoon picnic.

Bank Teller: Alright. But I'd suggest you turn around now. Those nice _____ seem like they want to talk to you . . . or something.

Robber: Ah, everything's going wrong for me today!

LIVEWORKSHEETS