Have you got Green fingers?

If you are good with flowers and plants, and you have a natural talent for turning seeds into a colourful vibrant [ ], then you can be said to have green fingers. I definitely do not. It's not that I don't like flowers and plants. Many times, while walking in the [ ], strolling around town or visiting other people's gardens, I stop to admire a tree or [ ] blowing in the wind. As the saying goes, we should all stop from time to time to [ ] the roses.

I just don't have the [ ] for looking after plants. It's the constant watering and care that puts me off. There just doesn't seem to be a large enough return on [ ] for my time, and that might sound strange coming from someone who used to be a [ ].

I grew tomatoes, corn, melons, [ ], peppers and even [ ]. But that was a job and, although I did enjoy doing it most of the time, I still resented the long hours that I needed to work in order to plant, water and harvest the crop. I'm not a naturalist. I'm a city boy who's happy to appreciate pretty palm trees blowing in the wind but usually from the [ ] and [ ] of his flat's balcony.
