When I was ten we decided to foster. I hated the idea. Now I wouldn't change it for anything. We fostered two siblings, a boy and a girl. 2 & 3 years old. They stayed with us for 6 months. That's a long time, long enough to think of them as yours. They are better off now living with their dad but I still miss them. This is dedicated to them: Shyla & Braydon, you are going to go through change but you will pull through.

This is my grandfather's original petition for citizenship. Over a period of two decades he took long ocean voyages between the Philippines and the US; working here until the end of his visa, going home, working there, coming back, until his citizenship was earned. No shortcuts, only patience, persistence, and hard damn work.
