Regions Quiz

Drag and drop

Regions bodies of water geographers
Human (social) physical features cultural climate economic vegetation social

For a better study of the world. [1] divided the world into regions or area that have shared characteristics.
[2] can be defined by some features including language, political divisions, religions, and vegetation.
We can define a region by its [3] or its human [4] features
Physical features identify a region by its [5], climate, landforms, [6], and fauna.
The [7] is a good way to identify a regions because it influences many other aspects of a place. It can determine what kind of animals and plants will live in the area.
[8] features are divided into cultural and economic.
[9] features can be group together areas where people share the same language, history, gastronomy, culture or traditions.
[10] features are everything that has to do with work and money like agriculture, livestock, or industry.

LIVEWORKSHEETS