Paul, Laura and their parents are on holiday. Laura is tall, thin girl of 18, with fair hair. She is tanned and strong. One day, they sail into a bay. 'Why don't we camp here tonight?' ask Paul, the younger brother. 'Yes, let's put up the tent over there!' Paul is as tall as Laura, but he's got curly red hair and pale skin with freckles. Brother and sister look different, but their characters are very similar. They are both active and adventurous. They love swimming and camping, and they are good swimmers.

'Oh, look, a dolphin!' cries suddenly Laura. 'No. Two dolphins,' she says Paul. 'And one of them is a baby'. 'The baby dolphin is trapped...Is that a fishing net?' say dad. 'Yes, I think so...We've got to help it! Says Paul. But Laura is already in the water, swimming quickly to the baby dolphin. 'Be careful, Laura! Says mun.

Then Paul dives in too, and together they free the baby dolphin. 'Bye, baby dolphin. Bye, mummy dolphin,' says Laura. But the dolphins don't go. They stay and swim with Paul and Laura. They want to play. I think they're saying thank you! Paul.
