Revolution in air travel. Instead of hanging around in crowded air terminals, enduring hours in cramped planes, eating junk food and watching soppy movies, passengers would be able to take the option of travelling as freight! For a fraction of the fare, they can be anaesthetized at a local travel centre, transported to the airport and, while sleeping in a padded, air-conditioned casket, loaded onto a plane, whisked off to their destination and woken with a complimentary drink at the other end.

B. Рубрика:

Volkswagen will soon announce the first car made out of carbon-reinforced rubber with an internal floating passenger capsule. Tests have shown that even at impact of 160 km per hour the car simply bounces back to its original shape and the passengers (provided they are strapped in) remain a bit shaken but unhurt.

C. Рубрика:

Just imagine what can happen if cars will be driven by computers! The largest traffic pile-up ever recorded may occur just south of Los Angeles on the 28-lane Interstate Freeway and involve 720 cars. An electrical storm would cause all the in-car computers to fail. Thanks to carbon/rubber bodywork, no serious damage to vehicles will be reported and nobody will suffer more than a severe bouncing.

D. Рубрика:

The latest phone that looks like a wristwatch presented by Sieko at the Tokyo Hi-Tec exhibition features a button that when pressed can locate your position anywhere in the world to within a two-metre square. It will be essential equipment for adventurous travelers and dodgy taxi drivers.

E. Рубрика:

Sales of the Ford Gyrostar, a compact, family, solar-assisted helicopter, is predicted to outnumber those of Ford's land-limited vehicles in America by 2020. With onboard computer navigation, controlled by fully automated state flight control (no human error possible), there have been no fatal gyro accidents.

F. Рубрика:

Owing to the horrendous eco-damage from ever-increasing road grid, an ambitious plan being under consideration now is to put all Japanese transportation underground by 2037. It may be completed due to the gigantic trillion dollar Branson Tunneldiver, which can cut through the earth at the rate of 30 km per day. The new, pneumatic underground system may carry people at 300 kph in great comfort and at relatively small cost.

Wild animals usually come into cities to look for food. In Cape Town, South Africa, baboons sometimes come into the suburbs. They eat fruit from gardens and go into people's kitchens and take food from cupboards and fridges! Baboons are strong animals and sometimes they scare children and fight with pet dogs.

Many people do not like them, but the city can be dangerous for baboons too. Sometimes, baboons are hurt in car accidents and the sugar in human food can be very bad for their teeth. The city council in Cape Town has a team of Baboon Monitors. Their job is to find baboons in the city and take them back to the countryside. This makes the city safer for people and it is healthier for the baboons. The problem is that a lot of baboons will come back to the city to find food again.
