Complete the text with these prepositions: about, at, for, in, of, to, with. You will have to use some prepositions more than once.

If somebody told you they were building a lift to take people into space, you would probably laugh [1]_____ the idea. But in fact, if you listen [2]_____ scientists and engineers talking about the plan, you soon realise they are being completely serious.

The elevator would consist [3]_____ a carbon fibre ribbon 100,000 km long. One end would be in the ocean at the equator, and the other end would be in space.

At the moment, it takes months or years to prepare [4]_____ a trip into space by rocket. Space agencies have begun searching [5]_____ a better option – partly because they worry [6]_____ the cost of space missions. The idea of a space elevator appeals [7]_____ governments because it would be far cheaper than sending rockets into space. It would be slower, but that would give passengers more time to adjust [8]_____ the different conditions as they left the earth.

It may not be easy though: countries might argue [9]_____ the exact location of the elevator. But if the political leaders can cope [10]_____ these problems and manage to take part [11]_____ the project together, it is certainly possible.

Science fiction writer Arthur C. Clarke wrote a novel [12]_____ the idea in 1979. He said in a speech that humans would build a space elevator ten years after they stopped laughing at the idea. Well, they've stopped laughing now.

Circle the correct prepositions to complete the sentences.

1 You should apologise for / to that comment!
2 Cats get frightened if you shout at / to them.
3 I asked about / for the manager so I could talk to him in person.
4 We complained for / about our hotel room.
5 I've never heard about / of this video game.
6 I dreamed about / of flying again last night.
7 After a long discussion, they agreed to / with our request and gave us our money back.
8 If you're unhappy with the service, why don't you write about / to the manager?

LIVEWORKSHEETS