QUOTES OF THE DAY:

"Life isn't a matter of milestones, but of moments."
– Rose Kennedy

"All life is an experiment. The more experiments you make the better."
– Ralph Waldo Emerson

"There are people who have money and people who are rich."
– Coco Chanel

This week with Joan!

Hello, readers! This week I'm writing about life. I found three interesting quotes about life. One quote is "_____ (1)." I agree! I think it means you should experiment – change your habits and try new things – to make life interesting. So last week, I tried these experiments: I ate seaweed tacos, I ran a marathon, and I went salsa dancing! Next week, I might go skiing or buy a new computer.

Another person said, "_____ (2)." I really like this one. I don't have a million dollars, but I still feel rich. I have a great family and good friends. I enjoy a rich, happy life with them.

My favorite quote is "_____ (3)." This means the small things in life are important. Sure, milestones are important, like graduating from college, starting a career, or getting married. But little things, moments, make life great. For example, I went shopping with my daughter. It wasn't a milestone, but we had fun, and I'll remember this day forever.

So, my advice? Work on your dreams and aspirations, but have fun, too. Life is short.

2 Read the article again. Write P (past) or F (future) for Joan's experiences and plans.
