LIVEWORKSHEETS

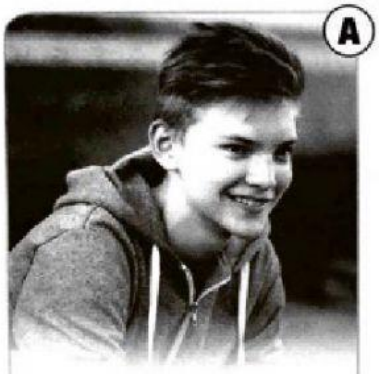
11. Read the article in which three people talk about a museum they have visited and choose the right option to answer questions



A

Klaus

I went to this museum because my cousin said it's very good. It's quite far from where I live, but I'm glad I went. There's lots to see, and also some things you can pick up, like bears' teeth – they're really big and heavy! They're amazing! There's a restaurant on the top floor, but I didn't go in. I did go in the shop, though. I collect stamps, and they had some interesting ones for good prices, so I got five.

B

Luiz

This museum isn't far from my house, but I didn't know it was there. I was really surprised when my aunt told me about it. She and I did a tour with a member of the museum staff, which was very interesting. Afterwards we stayed for hours, just looking at things by ourselves. We only went home because we wanted something to eat, I'd like to go back one day. Lots of tourists were buying things at the shop, but I didn't see anything I liked.

Andre

I saw an advertisement for this museum on a website. I don't usually like museums, but actually this one's really good! There's lots to see, and it's fun for little children because they can get near to the things, and even hold some of them. I might take my little brother next time, and maybe do a tour with a guide. The café's good too – I had a great cake!

A. Klaus B. Luiz C. Andre

2. Who bought something at the museum?

13. Read the article about a thirteen - year - old girl who tried an activity called wing - walking and write TRUE or FALSE

A young wing-walker

Wing-walking is an activity that's exciting to watch, but it's not one that most people will ever try. To do it you stand on the wing of a plane while it is flying. Thirteen-year-old Olivia Brook first saw someone wing-walking when she was five years old. The pilot of that plane was her uncle, Henry. Henry flies planes in shows all over the world, and has a team of wing-walkers who work with him.

Olivia has wanted to try wing-walking since she was eight years old, but Henry always said no. Finally, last month, he agreed, but only after asking her parents if it was OK first. On the day of the flight, they had to wait for a few hours for good weather. Then Henry checked the plane carefully before they took off.

Olivia spent about 20 minutes in the air. Afterwards, she said, 'It was fun, but very cold! I couldn't get warm again for hours. I know I'm not the youngest person ever to do wing-walking, but that's okay. There was a story about me in the local newspaper, and a picture of me, and everyone at school tells me I'm famous. That's enough for me!'

1. Olvia's uncle Henry travels to different countries because of his job. _____

2. When Olivia was eight, Henry said she should try wing – walking. _____

3. The weather was perfect all day when Olivia went wing – walking. _____

4. Henry made sure everything on the plane was working well before the flight. _____
