WHAT'S THE STORY OF THE SONG?

Paul McCartney wrote this as "Hey Jules," it was meant to comfort John Lennon's 5-year-old son Julian during his parents' divorce. Since McCartney loves show tunes, he changed it to "Jude" inspired by the character "Jud" in the musical Oklahoma! Julian Lennon confirmed this in Steve Turner's book "The Stories Behind Every Beatles Song", Julian said: "Paul told me he'd been thinking about my circumstances, about what I was going through and what I'd have to go through. Paul and I used to hang out quite a bit – more than Dad and I did... There seem to be far more pictures of me and Paul playing at that age than me and Dad. I've never really wanted to know the truth of how Dad was and how he was with me. There was some very negative stuff – like when he said that I'd come out of a whisky bottle on a Saturday night. That's tough to deal with. You think, where's the love in that? It surprises me whenever I hear the song. It's strange to think someone has written a song about you. It still touches me."
