THE HISTORY OF MAMA COCO

Sometimes, I think I'm c (저주받은).
Because of something that h (발생하다) before I was even born.
See, a long time ago, there w (있었다) this family.
The papa, he was a musician.
He and his family would sing and dance and count their blessings.
But he also had (가지고 있었다) a dream. To play for the world.
And one day, he l (남겨두었다) with his guitar and never r (돌아오지 않았다).
And the mama...
She didn't have time to cry over that walk-away(집 나간) musician.
After banishing all music from her life she f (찾았다) a way... to provide for her daughter.
She r up her sleeves(소매를 걷어붙였다) and she l (배웠다) to make shoes.
She could have made candy, or fireworks, or sparkly undenwear... for wrestlers, but no, she c (선택했다) shoes.
Then she t (가르쳤다) her daughter to make shoes.
And later, she t (가르쳤다) her son-in-law.
Then her grandkids g roped in(요령을 익혔다).
As her family g (성장했다/커졌다), so did the business.
Music had torn her family apart.
But shoes h them all together.(하나로 묶어주었다)
You see, that woman was my great-great-grandmother, Mama Imelda.
She d (돌아가셨다) way before I was born.
