I lived in a modern flat near the centre of Tokyo. It was on the second floor. I lived alone.
It was very small because flats there were really expensive. It was quite nice but it had only one room. I cooked, ate, studied and slept in the same room !
I didn't have a lot of furniture but I had all I needed. I had a small table, a futon (a Japanese bed), and a cupboard. I had also a television, a video, a CD player, and some photos on the wall.
There wasn't a balcony or a garden but I could see a small park from my window. My flat was quite noisy because there was a lot of traffic.
I liked living here because it was near my university and it was very central.
