Jaka Tarub and Nawang Wulan

Long time ago, in Dadapan Village, there was a young man called Jaka Tarub. The villagers loved him because he was very polite, honest and helpful. Jaka Tarub was a woodsman. Every day, Jaka Tarub went to the woods gathering branches. In his spare time, he often helped the villagers to take care of a farm. Once in a while he gave a carpenter a helping a hand as well.

One day, Jaka Tarub went to Bunder Woods to gather some branches. Suddenly, he heard some noise from a Roban Waterfall which was located in the middle of Bunder Woods. He was curious. Slowly, Jaka Tarub walked to the area. When he arrived there, he saw seven beautiful girls enjoying the breathtaking scenery of the waterfall. All of them were holding a shawl. Jaka Tarub was really amazed by their beauty. A few moments later, the girls slowly wore their shawls over their shoulders. Amazingly, after they wore the shawls, they flew to the sky following a rainbow path. They were not humans. They were fairies! After that Jaka Tarub went home. He was very restless. He was still thinking about those seven beautiful girls.

On the next day, Jaka Tarub decided to go back to Roban Waterfall. As he arrived there, he saw one of the fairy crying. Jaka Tarub approached the poor fairy and said," What's wrong? Why are you crying? And where are your sisters?"

"I tore my shawl on thorns of wild shrubs as I stood up. I cannot fly and go back home. All my sisters have left me because the rainbow path was about to fade away. My name is Nawang Wulan."

"I'll help you to fix it. If it doesn't work, you can stay at my house." Said Jaka Tarub. Then both of them headed back to the village. Jaka Tarub did his best to fix the shawl, alas, It didn't work. This made Nawang Wulan fail to fly back home. As time went by, they fell in love to each other and decided to get married. After getting married, Nawang Wulan told her husband that she had great skill to weave, she would weave cloth for him to sell in the market to earn much money. Finally, they lived happily ever after.
