

Alita:

Battle Angel

The original story of Alita was written by Yukito Kishiro. The Japanese manga comic was published in Business Jump magazine from 1990 to 1995. The second volume of the comic series was made into an animation for TV in 1993.

The newest version of Alita's story sees the very best computer generated images used to create Alita's world; a cyberpunk, post-apocalyptic future where cyborgs are part of everyday life. The action movie Alita: Battle Angel was released in 2019. Alita was played by actress Rosa Salazar.

In the story, Alita's head and torso were left in a bin. She had amnesia and couldn't remember her past. She was found, rescued and rebuilt by a 'cybermedic', a type of robotics doctor. She was named Alita after his cat, which had just died.

Famous Hollywood directors James Cameron and Robert Rodriguez made the 2019 movie.
