TENSES

Pablo Picasso _____ to draw before he could even talk. Everybody _____ by his talent. Picasso's father, who was also a painter, needed someone to help him with his work. Picasso could draw anything he wanted and everything he drew was extremely lifelike. As Picasso _____ up, he developed his own style of painting. At first, he shocked everyone with his strange paintings. No one _____ like him before anywhere in the world, so hardly anyone liked his work. Because of this, he was very poor for many years, but nothing stopped him. He loved painting very much. Today, Picasso's paintings are very famous and he _____ for his special style of painting. Anybody who wants to become an artist _____ Picasso's work. He is perhaps the father of modern art.
