VI.Read the passage carefully and choose the best answer A, B, C or D to each question below) (1.0 pt)

Companies are racing to make flying cars a real choice for people to get around. The machines will fly themselves, and experts say that they will make them safer than regular cars.

Dubai is a city in the Middle East where people should be flying to work in air taxis. The Ehang184 can fly for 30 minutes, hold on person, and runs on battery power.

Air-Taxi riders use an app on their phone to ask for a flight. The Ehang184 is one of the several new flying machines. Such machines are known as vertical takeoff and landing. They lift into the air with the help of electric fans, and are quieter and cleaner than helicopters.

The authorities in the US have approved the testing of similar vehicle called the Transition. It runs on gas and travels on the ground and in the air. The wings folds up when the vehicle is on the ground and they spread out for flight.

Unfortunately, it won't be ready for at least 10 years, so, for now, the world is watching to see how soon Dubai's flying taxis get off the ground.
