Read the passage then choose the correct answer to each question.

In the 1960s, it took pop and rock groups one or two days to record their songs. Nowadays, it can take months and months. Many rock groups start by recording one instrument, like the voice, and later add other instruments such as electric piano, synthesizer, guitars, and drums. Next, they might use a computer to add special effects. Finally, they 'mix' all the instruments until they get the sound that they want. This means that a CD or cassette will always sound very different from a live concert.

Music engineers have developed a new computer program that will change the future of music. A computer can analyze a singer's voice. Then if you give the computer the lyrics and music of a song, the computer can 'sing' it in that voice. This means that a singer only needs to record one song and the computer can then sing other songs in the singer's own voice. Singers can sing new songs many years after they have died.

For the record companies, music is a product. When a record company finds a new group (or 'band'), they first try to develop the band's 'profile'. They will try to create an 'image' for the band that they think will attract young people. Instead of allowing the band's full artistic freedom, they will often tell the band what they should wear, what they should say and how they should sing and play.

In recent years, many rock groups have started their own record companies because they say that the big companies are too commercial.

31. The passage mainly focuses on ……..

A. rock bands

B. changes in today's music industry

C. new music genres made by computers

D. computer's ability to 'sing'

A. one government official has even thought about making Chinese compulsory in public schools
B. Mandarin Chinese might not overtake English as the world's number-one language
C. About 100 million people worldwide are studying Chinese as a second language.
D. Many children in school classes all over America are taking additional language courses in Chinese.

37......The concept is easy. On one day they learn everything in English and the next they change to Chinese. It is an advantage to learn languages when you are young because small children soak up the language and use it in everyday situations. Chinese have become so popular that some schools even want to offer Chinese courses to parents.

Because of China's economy and influence, which is growing so fast, Chinese has become a language many people want to learn. In the United States about 50,000 students from kindergarten to eighth grade are taking Chinese, compared to only 5,000 in 2004. (38).....

In the Philippines people think that learning Chinese will allow them to get better jobs in the future. In Panama, (39). ....; however, getting enough qualified teachers to teach Chinese in all schools is a problem.

In the future (40)...... but because China is expanding further it will become an important language.
