Look at the blog extract. What do you think its about?

International Women's Day

Outstanding Determination is the theme of this blog. These women worked hard to achieve success various fields each in her own, and did not give up although things were difficult.

Chimokel Chilapong: Chimokel Is an ordinary Kenyan farmer, a mother od four, and won in a new course record of 2 hours, 39 min 9 sec. She shows how determination can help other people. 'Go Chimokel! Go!'

Soula Zavacopoulos: Soula's a hard-working woman and a great role model. She is the founder and director of The London Studio and the creator of "The Wisdom of Kids" greeting card line. She has won a number of awards. She used her creativity and determination.

Sarah Outen: Sarah Is the definition of determination! Outen was the first woman and the youngest person to row solo across the Indian Ocean and also the Pacific Ocean from Japan to Alaska, she has done all that by human power and travelling, for example, by kayak and rowing boat. She never gave up. She is a great example for us all.

Read the text about Chimokle then put the events in the correct order:

Chimokel got marries really young, she lives in a farm and has 4 children. Their hopes were to enrol their children in schools, but it is costing a lot. She heard about the prizes of the running races from her neighbour, so she started running! For a whole year she’s been running every morning in the hills. Her husband took care of their kids while she did extra work on the farm. She was determined to win. And that’s exactly what she did, she won the Nairobi marathon, her first race! You can imagine how happy she was that she got her children to school.
