Houses in the UK

Watch the video and complete the gaps:

1. About ..... of people live in the houses not in the .....

2. There are several types of the houses in the UK:

3. The detached is a standalone house. There is a ..... floor and the .....floor. There is an ..... under the roof. There is a ..... room, a ..... room and a kitchen ..... .
There are a few bedrooms and a bathroom ..... .

4. British people love gardening. They have a ..... garden and a ..... garden. Gardens are usually ..... There is one or two trees, a and a few .

When the weather is ..... people spend time ..... in their cosy gardens with their families and friends.

5. A semi-deteched house is actually ..... houses joined together where ..... families live ..... to each other. Semi-deteched houses are the most common type of the houses in the UK. They are usually in the ..... of the city.

6. The bungallow is a deteched ..... storey house. Some of them have an extra ..... in the attic, but it's not typical, because there is usually quite a liitle .....under the roof. This type of property is typical rural are of the UK.

7. Terraced houses and block of flats are ususally in the city .... houses are a lot of houses joined to one nother and they form a row. These are homes for ..... class people or people who have no much money. However, the flats are really ..... . A terraced house in the UK is called a ..... in the USA.

8. A ..... is called a tower block.

9. Flats are not very ..... only 15% people live there.