Grammar point. There is a sentence in the video like 'Meet Lala, a 10-year-old king penguin who used to call the Antarctic home. Structure "used to do something" means past habit. You did something in the past but now you don't. What can be other things that Lala used to do when he lived in Antarctic and what are the things that he's doing now? What about these people below?

A man who used to be a bachelor -	THEN and NOW
Ex-president of some country-	THEN and NOW
A student who finally got a job-	THEN and NOW
A person who has learnt English -	THEN and NOW
