Every day on radio, on TV, and in the newspaper, we hear, see or read about many problems in the world, for example, pollution problems.

Air pollution is the first kind. It mostly comes from fumes released from motorbikes, cars, airplanes, trains and poisonous gases emitted from factories. Also, waste is dumped anywhere, even in the city where many people are living. The second pollution problem is sea pollution. Many people earn their living from fishing in the sea, and the fish they catch feed many people. But the sea has become so polluted from oil spills and factory wastes that the fish are dying. This is not only killing the fish, but is also affecting those people who eat fish.

Seldom do you find a place nowadays that is not polluted. This problem is growing more difficult every day. We must find a good solution that makes the world a better place to live.

I've always wanted to learn how to dance. When I was younger, I loved going to discos and I used to spend hours practicing moves in front of the mirror! I think I was quite good, but as I got older, I became less confident. Recently I decided I'd join a dance class. The problem with most dance classes is that you need a partner, and none of my male friends ever wanted to come with me. I was beginning to give up on the idea when I came across a magazine article about Indian dancing. It sounded great and best of all I could do it on my own! So, I found a class on the Internet and booked myself into a course.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

I turned up for the first lesson feeling very nervous. I needn't have worried though because everyone was really friendly. We were all female. The youngest was about eighteen and the oldest was forty something. Our teacher came in looking fantastic in her traditional dance clothes and we soon all caught her energy and enthusiasm. She put on the music immediately, which was a combination of western pop songs set to an Indian beat, and we started following her moves. Any nervousness soon disappeared because the moves were so complicated. There was no time to worry about whether you're doing them right!

I've noticed a lot of changes in myself since I started dancing. I'm much fitter and I feel more confident. I've also made some great friends at the class. If you're interested in dancing, or you just want to feel fitter, I'd recommend Indian dancing!
