Listening Strategy: Attitudes

In some listening passages, you may be asked about a speaker's attitude about a topic. You will have to identify a speaker's opinion, feeling, or belief about something. A speaker's attitude may be stated directly or it may only be implied. The words a speaker uses can show you the attitude. This type of question is most common in Parts 3 and 4 of the test.

Common Attitude Questions and Words:

- What is the student's impression of . . . ?
- How does the woman feel about . . . ?
- What does the professor mean when she says . . . ?
- What does the man think about . . . ?
- What is the employee's opinion about . . . ?
- What is the server's attitude . . . ?
- What does the customer believe about . . . ?

Listening to the tone of a speaker's voice can give a hint as to attitude. How a speaker responds to a statement will also show attitude.

Read the following example:

Ex Listen to the conversation and choose the best answer.

W: Look at this burger!
M: Why? Is there something wrong with it?
W: Yes, it's totally undercooked! Look, it's red inside.
M: Oh, it's just a little pink. It looks good.
W: I'm going to send it back.
M: Don't send it back. I'll eat it.
W: OK, I'll eat your pasta instead.

undercooked = not cooked long enough

good = tasty, delicious, worth eating
