Adjectives & Infinitives

1.Join the halves of the sentences:

It was so kind of you	to think that this is impossible.
She can play chess well. She is very proud	to make a cake.
He is very clever student. He is very likely	to win this chess competition.
The weather was so nice, I was very happy	to pass her exam.
This riddle was interesting. It was very easy	to help me.
I was wrong	to play the violin.
I can play the piano but it's difficult for me	to solve it.
Jane was very happy	to miss our train.
I bought some flour and vanilla. I am ready	to go to Harward.
We were sad	to go to the beach.

2.Change the sentences using adjective+infinitive

0.We are happy that we see you here.	We are happy to see you here.
1.She is very happy that she can help her friends.
2.Katy is happy that she got a present.
3.We were glad that we received a letter.
4.He was sad that he received such news.
5.She was afraid because she saw a spider.
6.John was disappointed that he failed the exam.
7.It is important that you learn English.
8.It was kind that you helped us.
9.It was kind that she helped us.
10.She was sorry that she forgot her homework.
11.Mary is lucky that she won a lottery.
12.We are ready. We can go camping.
13.Kathy is sorry that she disturbed her friends.
14.It is likely that it will rain tomorrow.
15.Mary is certain that she will win the competition.
16.It is important that you will finish this project.
17.It is likely that she will go to Harward.

LIVEWORKSHEETS