CLEVER CHIMPANZEES

0. [A] COMMON NAME: chimpanzee
LATIN NAME: Pan troglodytes
AVERAGE LIFE SPAN: 30 to 50 years
FOOD: fruit, seeds, leaves, but also insects, birds, antelopes and other small animals
ADDRESS: tropical or dry forests in Central and West Africa
NUMBERS: 200,000 to 300,000.

1. [ ] Chimpanzees are full of good ideas. If they can't get food with their hands or their mouth, they find different objects in nature to do the job. They catch ants with straws and use leaves to drink water. They make hammers using two pieces of stone or wood to break palm nuts.

2. [ ] Chimps' arms are longer than their legs. They use them to hang from branches and to support themselves on the ground. Their five long fingers are like our fingers. Chimps can pick up most things, even small berries.

3. [ ] Chimps' legs can carry their weight. But they don't run or stand straight on their legs as we do. A chimp's big toe is opposite to the other four toes. This means that chimps can grab objects and hang down from branches with their feet!

4. [ ] Scientists teach the chimps to do things they would not know how to do in the wild. Chimpanzees don't know how to count but some can put numbers from 0 to 9 in order from memory. Chimps can't speak but they can use signs and little drawings to express themselves.

5. [ ] Females have their first baby when they're about 13 years old. They have up to five or six babies during their lifetime. Each baby stays with its mother for about 10 years. Mother chimpanzees take good care of them.

6. [ ] Chimp babies like to watch people who live nearby. They often see people wear special hats, turbans. Sometimes people lose turbans and chimps find them. Chimps put them on their heads and play with them.
