7 Read the text.

My favourite travel book is called Eight Feet in the Andes. It is a true story about a journey in Peru, in South America. The story is about a mother and her daughter who travel 2,000 kilometres across the Andes Mountains with a horse. The 'eight feet' in the title are two for the writer, Dervla, two for Rachael, her daughter, and four for the horse! They started the journey in the north of the country and went south for nine months on foot. Sometimes they stayed with local people in villages, but most of the time they slept under the stars.

Because the air is so thin in the high mountains, the journey was slow. The journey was sometimes dangerous because of the weather. They were very high up in the mountains – over 3,000 metres most of the time – so there were many storms and a lot of rain. It was important to find food for the horse every day because it carried their things. So, at times, Dervla and Rachael didn't have any food for themselves.

You should read this book if you like travel adventures.

8 Decide if the sentences are true (T) or false (F). If there is no information about this, choose 'not given' (NG).

1 They began their journey in the south of Peru. _____
2 They often slept outside. _____
3 There were some dangerous animals in the mountains. _____
4 The trip was slow because Dervla and Rachael carried everything. _____
5 This book is good for people who like history. _____
