CHROME BROWSER

Change your notification settings

By default, [ ] whenever [ ] try to send you notifications.

You can change your settings if you [ ].

1. On your computer, [ ].
2. At the top [ ] > Settings.
3. Click [ ] > Site Settings > [ ]
4. [ ] that you want as [ ].
   - Block a site:
     1. Next to "[ ]," click Add.
     2. Enter [ ].
     3. Click Add.
   - [ ]
     1. Next to "Allowed to send notifications," [ ].
     2. Enter the [ ].
     3. Click Add.
   - [ ] prompts:
     1. Allow sites to [ ]
     2. Click Use [ ].
        - This [ ] from interrupting you. A website can still ask you to allow notifications, [ ]. Instead, you will only find a [ ] You can [ ] access.

You can also [ ] you notifications.

Save your [ ]

If you sync your Chrome settings to your Google Account, you'll [ ] into your [ ] and open Chrome browser.

[ ]

To sign in to Chrome and turn on sync, you must have a Google Account.

[ ] Only turn on Chrome sync [ ]. If you use a [ ] mode instead.

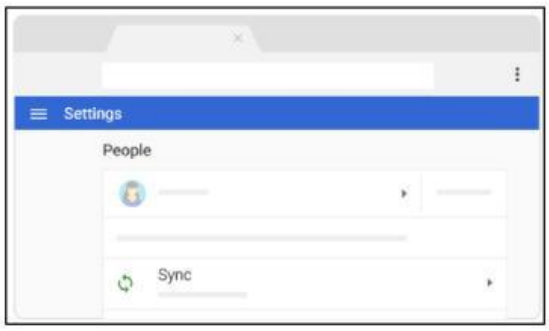
1. On your computer, open Chrome.
2. At the [ ].

LIVEWORKSHEETS

CHROME BROWSER

3. Click [ ]
    - If you're not signed into your Google Account, you'll [ ].
4. Click [ ].

Tip: If you want to sync more than one account or share your computer with others, learn how to add a profile in Chrome.



LIVEWORKSHEETS