READING SECTION (0,5 points):

A. Read the text about Fashion Trends. Then choose the correct answer for each question.

"Fashion Trends: From Fads to Lasting Styles"

Fashion and trends change very quickly, and sometimes it is difficult to keep up with them. What is popular today may be out of style tomorrow. Many young people follow fashion because it helps them express themselves, but they also know that not every trend lasts forever. Some things only gain popularity for a short time and then disappear.

For example, think about social media challenges or clothes with unusual designs. At first, they gain popularity because many celebrities or influencers use them. Suddenly, everyone wants to try them. But after a few months, people realize that this was only a fad. A fad is something that becomes popular very quickly but does not stay fashionable for long.

On the other hand, some styles stay around for years. A simple black jacket or a pair of jeans is always easy to wear because it never really goes out of style. People enjoy having a few classic items that they can use in many different situations, even when other trends are changing.

Of course, the fashion industry is always looking for the next thing. Designers want to surprise customers with new ideas every season. Sometimes the next thing is very creative and original, while other times it brings back an old style that becomes fashionable again. For instance, clothes from the 1990s have recently gained popularity, even though they were out of style for many years.

In the end, fashion is not only about following trends. It is also about choosing what makes you feel comfortable and confident. Whether something is just a fad or a lasting style, the most important thing is to wear what makes you happy.

The Importance of Time and Money

Time and money are two of the most valuable resources we have in life. Both can open doors to opportunities, but both can also be wasted if we are not careful. (16) _____. That is why people often say, "Time is money." Many successful people believe that using time wisely is even more important than having a lot of money. For example, famous entrepreneurs often say they set clear priorities each day. (17) _____. By managing their time carefully, they can focus on what truly matters. Money, of course, is also essential. Without it, people cannot buy food, pay for housing, or cover their basic needs. (18) _____. Having enough money allows people to feel secure and to plan for the future. However, both time and money can easily be wasted. Some people spend hours scrolling on social media without realizing how quickly the time passes. Others spend too much money on things they do not really need. (19) _____. In both cases, people may later regret their choices. Still, time and money can be used to help others. For instance, volunteering time to support a community project or donating money to charity can make a real difference. (20) _____. Using these resources wisely not only benefits individuals but also improves society as a whole. In the end, we cannot stop time, and money does not last forever. But if we learn to value both, we can live happier, more successful lives.
