Already – Yet – Still

Already is used to talk about something that happens earlier than expected or before something else happened. It is used in questions and affirmative sentences.

Still is used to talk about something that is continuing. It is used in questions and affirmative and negative sentences.

Yet is used to talk about something that we are expecting to happen. It is used in questions and negative sentences, usually at the end of the sentence.

Select the appropriate adverb.

1. Valentina was supposed to be home by now. Where is she? She is _____ at her friend's house.
2. But I don't think she has finished her homework _____!
3. When will she eat dinner? Don't worry – she has _____ eaten.
4. Kevin was supposed to be back in the office by 10, but when I stopped by at 10:30 he was _____ out. Is he back _____?
5. No, he _____ hasn't returned.
6. It's only 4 a.m. I can't believe the airport tunnel is _____ backed up!
7. It has been raining for days. Do you think it will _____ be raining on Saturday?
8. I plan to go to Brazil, but I haven't bought my tickets _____.
9. I am not ready to leave. I _____ need to pack.
10. Daniela wants to go to Brazil, but she _____ hasn't bought her tickets.
11. Glauber _____ bought his tickets.
12. By the time you're ready, the flight will have _____ taken off!
13. The app says that the Uber has arrived _____, but I haven't packed _____!
14. I'm really busy this week, but I _____ think I'll have time to meet you this weekend.
15. The client is waiting for our proposal. Have you finished it _____?
16. No, I _____ haven't finished.
17. But it's _____ a week overdue!

LIVEWORKSHEETS