Reading and Comprehension Exam

Instructions: Read the following paragraph carefully. Answer the multiple-choice questions based on the information provided in the paragraph.

Climate change is an undeniable phenomenon that poses significant threats to both the environment and human society. Rising global temperatures have led to more frequent and severe weather events, such as hurricanes, floods, and droughts. These changes in weather patterns disrupt ecosystems, affect agricultural productivity, and threaten water supplies. Additionally, the melting of polar ice caps and glaciers contributes to rising sea levels, which endanger coastal communities worldwide. Human activities, particularly the burning of fossil fuels and deforestation, are major contributors to greenhouse gas emissions, which accelerate climate change. To mitigate these impacts, it is crucial to adopt sustainable practices, such as transitioning to renewable energy sources, improving energy efficiency, and protecting natural habitats. International cooperation is essential in addressing this global challenge, as no single country can combat climate change alone. Policies and agreements, like the Paris Agreement, play a vital role in uniting nations towards a common goal. While the task is daunting, collective action and innovative solutions offer hope for a more sustainable and resilient future.
