Read the description of different festivals and fill in the gaps with the words from the box:

in the thick of it	wine and dine	unleashed	flamboyant	revelers	exuberant

Carnival in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

Possibly, the world's most famous carnival that arose out of tradition to paint the town red before removing the temptation to 1)_____ during Lent. As you can imagine, this means a hedonistic party where everything goes – including 2)_____ feathered headpieces and 3)_____ samba-shaking fun.

Hogmanay, Scotland

The real reason behind the extravaganza is the lack of Christmas back when Scotland wasn't getting on with church. So, they stockpiled all their party spirit ready to be 4)_____ on New Year's Eve in full force. Today, street 5)_____ wander free, sing songs and drink alcohol, while real life vikings lead the city's procession with fire torches, before the hourly firework displays light up the skies.

Thanksgiving Day Parade, the USA

The annual parade features giant balloons from Sponge Bob to the Grinch floating through Manhattan, and while it's also fun to watch on TV, nothing can be compared to the excitement of being 6)_____. The three-hour holiday event is a fast forward into the festive season.

The Elegant English Club
C1 & C2
LIVEWORKSHEETS