Some animals have camouflage to hide and stay safe. This means that they can change colour and look the same as things around them.

A - The chameleon can change its colour. If a chameleon is on green leaves, it changes to green. Other animals can't see it and eat it. The chameleon can hide and catch other insects to eat them.

B - The flower spider is very good at camouflage. It sits on flowers and changes its colour to the colour of the flower. This keeps it safe.

C - The cuttlefish can change colour very quickly. It can also change shape! It can look like the rocks and plants next to it. This means bigger fish can't see it, so it is safe.
