Reading Comprehension – The Rainforest

Read the passage carefully. Then answer the questions in full sentences.

The rainforest is a warm, wet place with many tall trees and green plants. Rain falls there often, so the air feels damp and cool under the leaves. Many animals live in the rainforest, such as monkeys, parrots, frogs, and insects. Some animals swing from branch to branch, while others hide among the leaves. The forest floor is dark because the thick trees block much of the sunlight. Rainforests are important because they give us oxygen and are home to many living things. People also find fruits, wood, and useful plants there. However, rainforests need protection. If too many trees are cut down, animals can lose their homes. We should care for the rainforest because it is a special part of our world.

1. What kind of place is the rainforest?

_____

2. Name two animals that live in the rainforest.

_____

3. Why is the forest floor dark?

_____

4. Give one reason why rainforests are important.

_____

_____

5. Why do rainforests need protection?

_____

_____

N.E.T.S. Learning Hub
WhatsApp channel

LIVEWORKSHEETS