Unit 8 : Good Luck, Bad Luck

Language/ Grammar Focus : Learn and review Present Perfect and the use of for and since.
Make questions using How long?

since	We use since with the present perfect or the past perfect to say when something started : if the starting point is given (two o'clock, last Friday, 1998) I have worked here since December. They had been watching since seven o'clock in the morning.
for	We use for to say how long : if the period of time is given (twenty minutes, two days, one year) We have been waiting for twenty minutes. They lived in Manchester for fifteen years. We can also use a noun phrase without for : Let's go. We've been waiting nearly an hour. I've worked here twenty years.

We use how long to talk about the amount of time something takes. How long is the movie? It's 2 hours.

How long? is used to ask questions about amounts or periods of time. Take a look at the following:

- 'How long have you been waiting?' 'Only for a minute or two.'
- 'How long have they been married?' 'Oh, for a very long time. More than 25 years.'
- 'How long will the concert last?' 'It should be over by ten o' clock, I think.'
- 'How long was your stay in Malaysia?' 'The project lasted for two years, but I was there for two and a half years.'
- 'How long have you been living in this house?' 'For 12 years now, ever since my mother died.'
- 'How much longer can you stay?' 'Not much longer. For another ten minutes perhaps. I have to be home before midnight.
