The Foundation of the United Nations

The United Nations (UN) is an international organization that was officially established on October 24, 1945. It was created immediately after the devastating events of the Second World War. The main goal of the founders was to build a global platform where countries could talk to each other instead of fighting, ensuring that such a terrible war would never happen again.

In the beginning, representatives from 51 countries gathered in San Francisco, USA, to discuss and sign a historic document known as the UN Charter. This Charter serves as a rulebook that outlines the rights and duties of each member state. The foundation was built on the principle of international cooperation and the belief that all human beings deserve to live in peace and dignity.
