READING

12 Read the magazine article.

Household chores: are robots the answer?

A We all have to do some household chores, but usually we don't enjoy them! Sometimes we don't do them properly because we haven't got enough time. And sometimes we don't do them because we're too lazy!

B So, what's the solution? Some people imagine that robots can help us with a lot of the normal tasks in the house. Robots are already working in factories, they say, so why can't they work in our homes? Unfortunately, things aren't as easy as that. When robots work in factories, they do exactly the same job again and again. But at home, things are often more complicated. Imagine, for example, that a robot has to do the ironing. All the clothes are different shapes and sizes. And some clothes need a very hot iron, but others need a lower temperature. How does the robot know what to do? It isn't straightforward!

C Of course, there are some jobs that robots can do. For example, there are very good robotic vacuum cleaners and food processors. However, for the moment, we can't rely on robots to do all our household chores!

Match the headings with the paragraphs.

1 Can robots help us in the house? ☐
2 Robots aren't the solution! ☐
3 Household chores – a problem! ☐
