THE OLD CINEMA IN MY NEIGHBORHOOD

My name is Linh, and I want to tell you about the old cinema in my neighborhood. It's called "Star Cinema" and it opened in 1985. My neighborhood has about 30,000 people, and almost everyone knows this cinema. Star Cinema is special because it only has two screens. Modern cinemas have ten or more screens, but we love our small cinema. The building looks old from outside with its yellow walls and big red sign. Inside, the seats are comfortable and the screen is quite big. The cinema shows movies every day. On weekdays, they show three movies: at 3:00 p.m., 6:00 p.m., and 8:30 p.m. On weekends, there's an extra morning show at 10:00 a.m. for children. Tickets cost 50,000 dong for adults and 30,000 dong for students. Mr. Tuan has been the manager for fifteen years. He's very friendly and remembers many customers' names. Sometimes he gives free popcorn to regular customers on their birthdays. The cinema also has a small shop that sells drinks, popcorn, and candy.

However, Star Cinema faces one serious problem: not many young people come anymore. They prefer going to the new shopping mall to watch movies. The modern cinema there has 3D movies and better sound systems. Mr. Tuan is worried because he needs more customers to keep the cinema open. Last month, he started "Classic Movie Nights" every Friday. These special nights show old Vietnamese films that our parents and grandparents love. Now more people are coming back!

THE SCHOOL FILM CLUB

My name is Minh, and I am the president of our school film club. We started this club two years ago with just five members. Now we have thirty students who love making and watching movies. Last month, our club organized a special film competition. We invited students from all grades to make short videos about school life. The videos had to be creative and less than five minutes long. Our teacher, Ms. Lan, helped us plan everything. She taught us how to use cameras and edit videos on computers.

We received twenty videos from different classes. Some were funny, some were serious, and all were interesting. The film club members watched all of them carefully. Then we voted for the best three videos. The winning team got a professional camera as their prize. The most popular video was about a day in the life of our school cat. Everyone loved it because the story was simple but touching. The students who made it followed the cat everywhere with their phone camera. They even added funny music and subtitles.

Our principal was very happy with the competition. He said it helped students learn new skills and work together. Next semester, we plan to organize a bigger competition and invite other schools to join us.
